Austrade butts in: Billie Goat Soap cleans up Korea

In case you're still wondering what Austrade does apart from accompany AWB executives into Iraq, wonder no more. Australia's top trade promoter announced yesterday it had helped increase Australia's soap exports to Korea by 19 per cent.

"Adding to this success is a NSW Central Coast businesswoman who has made her first export sale of fresh goat milk soap," it said. Three shipments of Billie Goat Soap have gone from Ourimbah, a 90-minute drive north of Sydney, to South Korea.
